

Interior of Worship Center with new balcony

Exterior of addition

This is the second phase for Timberlake Church, a client for which we designed a new 48,500 square foot building on their undeveloped property in the late 1990s. The Northwest Contemporary design was ahead of its time back then, and they wanted to have the addition match that unique style.

The phase includes an 8840 square foot addition with two youth auditorium spaces, the completion of an unfinished balcony (adding 200 seats), a remodel of the office wing into adult meeting rooms, and an expansion of 180 parking spaces to the existing 400 space parking lot. We also provided an elevated fenced-in play area for the preschool.
